JELICOE EYES BRITISH NAVY'S GRIP IN PACIFIC

Ends 4 Years' Study of Big Problem.

BY FLOYD GIBBONS.

(Chicago Tribune Special Service.)

WELLINGTON, New Zealand, Nov. 23.—Of vital importance to the white forces of the world is the official knowledge, first hand information, and expert conclusions that will be part from New Zealand for England this month, locked up in the head of one man.

For the last four years the foremost naval authority among the allied fleets during the world war was Admiral Jellicoe. (C. Harris & Evans) has been applying his knowledge and experience to an intensive study of the problems that confront the Anglo-Saxon peoples in the question of defense of the Pacific coast.

The man in Viscount Jellicoe of naval affairs, the first and retiring governor general of New Zealand, in the last four years his official position in New Zealand has been that of representative of the British crown and by that reason alone it will not be officially admitted and most probably will be officially denied that Viscount Jellicoe carries away with him confidential information which is the property of the British admiralty.

What About Singapore Base? Together with other expert opinion, he will be called upon to give information concerning the new importance of the proposed Singapore naval base and the composition and disposition of the British far eastern fleet.

But all New Zealanders with whom I have talked hold no doubts as to the special benefits the dominion will derive from having had a naval man in the position of a politician at the head of the government. Their belief in the wisdom and efficacy of Viscount Jellicoe's capacity to analyze the Pacific situation and recommend proper measures for protection is their greatest feeling of security today.

American naval experts, well aware of the importance of Viscount Jellicoe's latest conclusions, would have access to them only in the event that the maintenance of peace in the Pacific demanded combined action on the part of the American, British imperial and dominion naval forces. Viscount Jellicoe is leaving New Zealand with regret that he will not be in these waters next year when the American fleet in his office in the government house here today.

"O, is there?" replied the governor general as a sailor's twinkling smile lit his eyes and a tight lipped smile lighted his clean shaven sunburned features.

Not by the thinning grey hair above the high forehead, but by the engaging frankness of his eyes may one know better this 65 years old sea dog, who knows the Pacific ocean today as well as he knew the North sea in the days of England's peril. Sixty-five years old, but spry and why mouth to the point of mallets with the youngsters on his staff, steam through a snappy set of tennis, man and sail his fourteen foot yacht in a stiffening breeze, and worry through any afternoon with eighteen holes of golf. Viscount Jellicoe is as much disposed to ward deck quarts as a cowboy is to a broncho.

Smiles His Only Answer. But his natural vim and buoyancy of spirit become cold, smiling reserve when any effort is made to delve into the affairs he has been watching for John Bull for the last four years. Ask him specifically about the establishment of the naval base supplementary to Singapore and located on the northern coast of Australia, and he smiles. Ask him about the reported conference of British naval officers for Singapore.

CHAPLIN WILL WED LITA GREY, MEXICO HEARS

Mexico City, Nov. 23.—(By The Associated Press.)—Charlie Chaplin was expected to arrive in Guaymas today and marry his leading woman, Lita Grey, in the nearby town of Empalme, according to dispatches received from Guaymas early today. The dispatches assert that Chaplin obtained the marriage license Oct. 14. They add that the bride-to-be and her mother arrived in Guaymas last Friday.

Keeps His Friends Ignorant. Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 23.—(By Associated Press.)—If Charles Chaplin married his leading woman, Lita Grey, in the Mexican town of Empalme today, the members of his household have been kept in complete ignorance of it. It was said at the film comedian's home here tonight.

Later, however, the grandfather of Miss Grey, E. Curry, told the Los Angeles Times that Chaplin had left Los Angeles for Guaymas at 5 p. m. today. Miss Grey and other members of Chaplin's company are already at Guaymas, he explained, where they expect to be "on location" for some time.

On the other hand, Chaplin himself is quoted by the Times as having said as late as last night that:

"Miss Grey is still my leading woman. She will continue as such. But we are neither married nor engaged."

JUSSERANDS WILL LEAVE MEMORIAL TO BIRD FRIENDS

Washington, D. C., Nov. 23.—A bird bath, constructed of stone from France, is to be left in Piney Branch valley here by Ambassador and Miss Jusserand as a permanent expression of gratitude to the songsters that gave them relief during the war from their burden of anxiety and anguish.

During the long days of 1914-1917, while the German armies trampled the heart of France, the ambassador and his wife as often as possible snatched a few moments of respite from the war-racked atmosphere of the embassy, to walk in the peaceful valley.

Now, after a quarter of a century in Washington, they are going back to France; and, remembering the birds that helped them in their need, they have engaged M. Cret, a French architect of Lyons, France, and Philadelphia, to design the stone bath, which will be inscribed, "To the birds of Piney Branch— from their friends, Elise and Jules Jusserand."

GALLERY CALLS IN COPS ON GRIDIRON

It may be said of the Gallery clan (spelled with a "c," it need hardly be added), that they, too, have never been fairly beaten in a fight. Nobody knows that better than Capt. Michael Gallery, who was at the Senn high school athletic field yesterday, watching the Chase Park football team—little fellows, but fine, mind you—testing their strength against the Roanoke Athletic club's team.

Capt. Mike's son plays center on the Chase Park team. As the game progressed it became evident to Capt. Mike that the Roanokes, who outweighed the Chases four pounds to the man, when the game began, were growing heavier and heavier as they swept down on the Chase goal. When they reached the 35 yard line they were all eight feet tall, and there wasn't a play but they committed aggravated mayhem upon the fine little Chase Park boys.

Capt. Mike Goes In. Capt. Mike could stand it no longer. He leaped from the grandstand to the playing field. He was in plain clothes, but he waved his star over his head as he approached the astonished twenty-two young men.

"You'll have to quit if you don't stop rough-housing our boys," he admonished the Roanokes. "Aren't you ashamed of yourselves, big brutes that you are?"

Son Leads the Rush. "Beat it, pa; what's eating you?" replied the younger Gallery, as he led a united push of the twenty-two upon Capt. Mike. The captain withdrew before the overwhelming force, but summoned brother officers from the Summerdale station. They stayed around long enough to report they could find nothing but a football game and 5,000 rooters getting mad because the game had been stopped by some body for no reason.

It ended in a 0-0 tie.

POLICEMAN SHOT BY COLORED MAN HE TRIES TO NAB

Policeman Edward J. Cleary, 27 years old, 4857 Princeton avenue, was shot through the abdomen last night by a colored man whom he was attempting to arrest for loitering. Cleary probably will die. He lies in the county hospital.

Elizabeth Steppin, colored, 1086 Maxwell street, went into the Maxwell street police station to ask protection from a man who was standing near her window.

Policemen Cleary, Joseph Kuess, and Frank Jarvis took her in the patrol wagon to her house. The loiterer stood in a narrow passageway and Cleary went in after him. The Negro shot him down, but Cleary fired four times from the ground.

Policeman John Foley, walking beat nearby, also fired at the fleeing man, but missed.

QUIT HUNGRY ON TURKEY DAY AND STAY HEALTHY

Moderation in eating on Thanksgiving day is urged by Dr. Herman N. Bundeisen, health commissioner, in this week's department bulletin. He lists a set of rules which he recommends.

"Eat as much as you require, and with regularity," he says. "Chew twice as long and eat half as much. The stomach is a slave, but when it revolts the results are not pleasant for the master. Do not eat with your eyes. Digestive troubles are invited by indigestions in diet. Remember your stomach has no teeth."

Dr. Bundeisen says overeating is largely a result of swallowing food before it is chewed properly. If food is chewed carefully, he says, the stomach will report when it is not satisfied.

WAIT ALL NIGHT TO GET FORMER CZAR OF SUBURB

Crowe Opens War on Gangsters.

Beer and bullets mixed again yesterday in Cicero.

Eddie Tancl, owner of the Hawthorne Inn roadhouse, former pugilist, enemy of the Torrio and "Klondike" O'Donnell beer factions, was killed by two men who waited in his place all Saturday night for an opportunity to take his life.

Myra O'Donnell, 1227 South 81st court, Cicero, brother of "Klondike," one of the men who "got" Tancl, was shot four times and is said to be near death.

James Doherty, 4521 Washington boulevard, beer runner, late of the Dean O'Banion beer faction, later of the "Klondike" gang, who assisted in the execution of Tancl, escaped, but is believed to have been shot.

Patron Also Shot.

Leo Kilmas, 4444 South Troy street, former mafiosop, a patron of Tancl's, was shot in the lung and is expected to die.

Doherty and O'Donnell had been in the Cicero roadhouse at 10:30 o'clock. At 11 o'clock yesterday morning they saw their opportunity.

Immediately the notorious roadhouse at Ogden and 48th avenues was the theater of furious gunplay. In a moment the feudists were on the street, revolvers popping merrily. Tancl and O'Donnell dropped together, side by side, 500 feet away from the barroom. Tancl's last act was to hit O'Donnell with his emptied revolver. His last words were to his waiter, Martin Simet, to whom he handed the revolver.

"Kill him, he got me," Tancl said.

Waiter Tramples Slayer.

O'Donnell had sagged, unconscious, 80 feet from Tancl. Simet, he admitted, jumped on the prostrate form of O'Donnell.

Doherty had escaped. Going back to the bar, Kilmas was found under the bar, wounded. He was a non-combatant, all witnesses agreed.

Cicero police and county officials quickly reconstructed the events leading up to the murder of Tancl, relating the story as follows:

Tancl, former owner of the Pilean auditorium on Blue Island avenue, moved to Cicero three or four years ago, setting up the present liquor and gambling establishment. He became the dominant figure in the lawless dispensing of privilege at Cicero. He got his beer from the "Klondike" O'Donnell gang.

John Torrio, supreme in Chicago's south side bandits, stepped in and assumed control of Cicero. Tancl wouldn't bow in submission, wouldn't take Torrio's beer.

Then "Klondike" sold Tancl needles bent in place of real 4 per cent. brew. Tancl quit him.

O'Donnell Gangster Killed.

Philip Corrigan and Joseph Brooks were caught after having lighted a fuse attached to sixty sticks of dynamite placed against the Tancl roadhouse. Police took them away after the explosion had been narrowly averted.

It was found they were menials of "Klondike."

Corrigan's bullet riddled body was found a week or two later. One story was that he had been shot in Nugent's south side saloon. The accepted theory was that Tancl had eliminated an enemy.

"Just another gangster given gang justice," outsiders said.

Since then Tancl has been repeatedly warned to "get out of Cicero or get killed." He hurried defiance to his enemies.

"Try and get me," he invited. They did.

Charge O'Banion Connection.

Coroner Oscar Wolf took in the Tancl killing a connection with the O'Banion murder. He announced he would request the coroner's jury of the O'Banion inquest, comprised of four lawyers, a business man, and the Rev. Elmer Williams of the Better Government association, to act as jurors in the Tancl inquest.

"He said the jury had indicated a willingness to try to expose 'all the corruption of the beer and liquor traffic.' Here is its opportunity, he said. State's Attorney Robert E. Crowe. (Continued on page 6, column 1.)

Percy S. Grant Mentally Ill; Under Cure

BY GEORGE FRY.

(Copyright, 1924, By The News, New York.)

New York, Nov. 23.—(Special.)—The Rev. Dr. Percy Stickney Grant, former rector of the Church of the Ascension in 6th avenue, has been pronounced mentally unbalanced. Attending brain specialists have given him only a short time to live.

Accompanied by several friends, Dr. Grant came from his Bedford Hills home tonight and entered New York hospital, 3 West 16th street, to undergo treatment for anemia, to which disease he referred in his resignation.

His sudden abandonment last June of the fashionable 8th avenue church was forced by the weary. His mental condition and the interest shown in a chambermaid in the rectory were contributing reasons.

Mrs. Rita de Acosta Lydig, society's beautiful lady of letters, has come to the crowning grief of a life in which the most brilliant surroundings of her time held but sadness.

Her Great Love Wrecked.

The great love of her life is a hopeless wreck, mentally and physically. Her own proud place as the wife and inspiration has been taken by the chambermaid.

Dr. Grant, once an athlete and crack boxer of the New York Athletic club, sits through the days, a shell of his former self, waiting for the end.

FIVE REAL YANKS AND ONE VIKING ON WORLD FLIGHT

Smith a Descendant of Daniel Boone.

In the preceding chapter, printed yesterday, Mr. Thomas compares the flight of the United States airman around the world with that of Ferdinand Magellan, the first to circumnavigate the globe by water. As the Portuguese sailor opened the great trade routes on the seas, so the American pioneers of the air are the forerunners of newer and quick communications between the nations of the world.

BY LOWELL THOMAS.

(Copyright by The Chicago Tribune News Service Syndicate and the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

From "Silent" Smith to "Smiling Jack" Harding, America's Magellans of the air had well nigh run the gamut of human experience before they set forth on the round the world flight. Their varied careers and colorful experiences had made them resourceful and had filled them with all the necessary grit and pluck to tackle the most difficult and hazardous under-taking ever attempted by American aviators. No doubt it was partly because of this resourcefulness, courage and stamina that they were selected. Of the six circumnavigators, five are pure American stock as can be found on this continent. All five are direct descendants of the early colonists from Britain. One is a descendant of the Pilgrim fathers who crossed on the Mayflower. Another is a descendant of Daniel Boone. Two come from fine old southern families. The fifth is a descendant of the sea captains of the Connecticut coast who commanded the tea clippers and whaling schooners in the days when America's merchant fleet was conspicuous on every sea.

One Is a Viking.

Only one of the six is a naturalized American, and he, appropriately enough, is a descendant of the Vikings, the most picturesque navigators and sea rovers in all history.

Three of the six big men who manned the first fleet of aerial world cruisers ran away from home when they were youngsters and did everything before them sailing around the world. The last and playing hard-boiled parts in motion picture productions to serving under Pancho Villa, the rebel-boss of Mexico.

After the world cruiser Seattle had crashed and fallen a twisted mass of wreckage amid the mountains of an unhabitable region on the Alaskan peninsula, eliminating Maj. Frederick L. Martin and Sgt. Alva Hixson from the flight, Lieut. Lowell Smith became the leader of the expedition, because he happened to be the senior aviator of the remaining flying lieutenants. He is a senior aviator of the remaining flying lieutenants. He is a senior aviator of the remaining flying lieutenants. He is a senior aviator of the remaining flying lieutenants.

Descendant of Daniel Boone.

Lieut. Lowell Smith, commander of the men who completed this 26,000 miles of aerial flight around the globe, is the one who is descended from Daniel Boone.

Although his father and mother are Californians by adoption their relatives on both sides of the family were among the pioneers who fought the Indians, built log cabins, and cut little clearings out of the virgin forest in what is today the state of Kentucky.

His great-grandfather was a stalwart backwoodsman of the Posevettian type, who wore a coonskin cap, carried a long barreled flintlock, wore a horn of powder at his belt, and was the father of seven children. Coming from such stock it is not surprising that "Silent" Smith had the stuff to enable him to pilot a squadron of aeroplanes on the first round the world flight.

Lowell H. Smith was born on Oct. 4, 1892, at Santa Barbara, Cal. He is the son of a Seventh Day Adventist evangelist minister who can build hydro-power plants and operate a lath as well as he can preach the gospel. Lowell derives his mechanical aptitude from his father and his tact, turn, silent disposition, plus an exceptional amount of pluck, grit, and dogged determination, from his mother. It is on his mother's side that he is descended from Daniel Boone.

He is the second of a family of four children, and as a child Lowell lived first in Santa Barbara, then in North Yakima and Spokane, Wash., and later on in San Fernando, Cal., where the Rev. Jasper G. Smith alternated between the pulpit and the more lucrative profession of mechanical and electrical engineering.

Typical Minister's Son.

Like a typical minister's son, Lowell became fed-up with what he regarded as unfair parental severity. If there ever was a minister's son who didn't run away from home or at least long to do so he is the exception to the rule.

"Silent" Smith enticed one of the members of his local gang to go with him when he shook the dust of San Fernando from his shoes and hooked a ride on a through freight to taste of the flesh-pots of San Francisco.

Young Smith's first job was in a florist's shop. Then he juggled dishes in a lower Market street eatery for a while and afterwards rushed north into Washington where he got a job as callboy for the Northern Pacific railroad at a little town in the Cascades.

After six months of knocking about from one job to another he returned home in response to the pleas of his mother. Although he declares that he gained much valuable experience from this adventure he says that he doesn't recommend running away from home as a good plan for other boys, first, because of the danger of taking the wrong road and falling in with evil companions, and second, because of the pain it causes a boy's mother.

Joined Villa's Army.

After attending high school at San Fernando and wasting several years taking a business course at San Fernando academy that did not appeal to him, he suddenly ran away from school and went off into the Mojave desert, where he spent six months overhauling and operating a pumping plant. From there he went to Los Angeles and landed a job as a mechanic in an automobile repair shop, but soon gave it up to join Villa's army in Mexico.

He found the bandit general a fascinating character, a genuine idealist fighting for the people. Villa's army according to Lowell Smith, had the best morale, the best esprit de corps, that he has ever seen before or since. Villa had an air service consisting of three planes piloted by three American soldiers of fortune. Lowell Smith was the engineer officer attached to the squadron. But when one plane collided with an adobe hut and the second was riddled with bullets and the third took a nose dive into the ground Villa's air service vanished into thin air and Smith came north and went to work on the "Betty O'Neal," a silver mine at Battle Mountain, Nevada.

(To be continued tomorrow.)

GOVERNOR'S KIN SLAIN IN SOUTH 'TRIANGLE' FRAY

Orlando, Fla., Nov. 23.—Mystery is seen today in the killing of Napoleon B. Broward, nephew of former Gov. Broward of Florida, and the shooting of Mrs. Hal Cady.

Cady, the husband, is being held pending the verdict of the coroner's jury.

Early this morning Police Lieutenant J. B. Harvey was told that there was trouble at the home of Cady. He found the body of Broward lying on the bathroom floor, with Cady drying his hands.

Cady told Harvey that Broward had been present at a "party" earlier in the evening, and that he [Broward] refused to leave the Cady home when requested to. Then, Cady said, during a rough and tumble fight he drew his automatic and pointed it downward in an effort to scare Broward and that the revolver was accidentally discharged.

One bullet struck Broward, he said, and another passed through the shoulder of Mrs. Cady.

Cady's parents live in Detroit, Mich. His father is reputed to be wealthy.

LONDON, Nov. 23.—The freedom of Egypt, granted by a British proclamation in 1922, is a thing of the past. Whatever the Egyptian reply to the ultimatum delivered yesterday by Lord Allenby, British high commissioner, the British government is determined to resume effective control of Egypt, and more particularly the Sudan.

"Compelled to Restore Rule." "Too optimistic about the ability of Egypt to govern herself," was the way a British official said tonight. "We are now compelled to take steps to restore British rule, both in the interest of Egyptians and of foreign residents and the interests of the Sudanese population, who wish to work to develop their country free from disturbances and agitation, which has led to rioting and destruction of life and property."

"We have a perfect right to do this under the declaration of 1922, in which we proclaimed a sort of Monroe doctrine for Egypt by declaring we would regard any interference in Egypt by any foreign power as an act unfriendly to us. By the converse of that doctrine we are responsible for order in Egypt, and we are going to carry out our responsibility."

Part of Ultimatum Rejected. No official news reached London last night of Premier Zaidou's reply to Lord Allenby's ultimatum, but it was stated unofficially that, while it rejected all the British demands but those for indemnity and punishment of the murderers of Sir Lee Stack, it was couched in a conciliatory vein and probably would lead to a further interchange of views.

The Transvaal also is informed that Great Britain is in no mood to consider any appeal by Egypt to the league of nations. Egypt is not a member of the league, and the English believe the Egyptian "Monroe Doctrine" precludes league interference. There are now about 12,000 British troops in Egypt and perhaps as many native Sudanese troops who are entirely loyal to the British rule. It is not thought that any large reinforcements will be necessary.

THE LION POUNCES

Egypt, granted independence in 1922, still has her liberty and again become a British protectorate as the result of the assassination of Gen. Lee Stack, London dispatches announced last night. Great Britain, for all practical purposes, annexed the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan yesterday. She told the Egyptians that their army will be created at once.

Egypt Offers to Pay, but—CAIRO, Nov. 23.—(By the Associated Press).—The Egyptian government's reply to the British note in connection with the assassination of Maj. Gen. Sir Lee Oliver Stack, governor general of the Sudan and sirdar of the Egyptian army, agrees to Great Britain's demand for an apology, punishment of the assassins, and an indemnity of 500,000 (£2,300,000). It also promises to prevent any disturbance of the peace by demonstrations.

The reply says the British demand regarding the Sudan breaks the status quo and is contrary to the constitution, under which King Fuad is commander in chief of the Egyptian army. It considers the demand regarding the Gezira irrigation project premature.

Ousia Egyptians in Sudan. Field Marshal Viscount Allenby, the British high commissioner, promptly replied to the Egyptian note, which was signed by Zagloul Pasha, the Egyptian premier. Gen. Allenby said that in view of the refusal of the Egyptians of the British requirements Nov. 5 and 6, instructions were being sent to the Sudan government to effect the withdrawal from the Sudan of Egyptian officers and units with the specified changes resulting from these measures and that the Sudan government was at liberty to increase the area of irrigation in the Gezira district to an unlimited extent.

Gen. Allenby's reply requests the payment of the indemnity of 500,000 pounds by noon Monday and adds: "Your excellency will learn in due course what action is being taken in view of your refusal of requirement No. 7, regarding the protection of foreign interests."

The cabinet was still deliberating at 11:15 tonight. It was understood that the ministers were at that time divided on the question of resignation.

It has been arranged that British troops, with 500 bluejackets from H. M. S. Valiant, will parade in Alexandria tomorrow.

Juggle War Debts to Foil Disarm Parley.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 23.—[Special.]—The recent speech of the French premier, M. Herriot, suggested that France might enter into an arrangement to pay its war debt to the United States if America would reduce the amount about 60 per cent. This suggestion has aroused much speculation among Washington officials.

This is the first intimation emanating from any source that France Premier Herriot entertains any serious intention of paying the war debt to America, now totaling $1,000,000,000. This intimation is not official, but merely a suggestion in a political speech, which some officials here believe is merely a part of a maneuver to keep the United States from calling another armament reduction conference.

Won't Even Talk About It.
The war debt refunding commission, of which Secretary of the Treasury Mellon is chairman, has failed completely to obtain from either France or Italy any assurance of a disposition to reimburse the United States for the loans made to those countries for the financing of their war operations against Germany and Austria.

At least one representative of the French government informed members of the American debt commission flatly and frankly that France does not intend to pay the debt to the United States.

"America sent dollars to Europe to fight the war when she ought to have been sending men," the French official said. "Under the circumstances, we do not feel that we owe America anything."

That is the last official statement to the members of the American debt commission concerning the attitude of the French government, and there the matter has rested for some time.

Believed They Will Repudiate.

It was the general understanding among the members of the commission that France and Italy do not intend to pay, and the only question has been whether these nations should be pressed for even a promise to pay something some time.

The principal war debts owed to the United States now are:

Great Britain	$1,000,000,000
France	2,000,000,000
Italy	1,000,000,000
Belgium	100,000,000
Poland	20,000,000
Russia	100,000,000
Czechoslovakia	100,000,000

Great Britain is paying its debt under the refunding agreement. Poland, Czechoslovakia, and Finland, which owe $10,000,000, also have made arrangements to liquidate their obligations. Belgium, like France and Italy, has refused to give any assurance of payment.

Won't Pay and Wants Discount.

Premier Herriot suggests a 50 per cent discount, which would reduce the French debt to $1,000,000,000. He thinks 50 per cent discount would be about right, because, he said, the amount of reparations Germany is to pay has been reduced 50 per cent, thus discounting the reparations with which the French endeavor to make the payment of the debt to America contingent on the payment of reparations.

"We are not so poor that we need to compromise with France on a basis of a payment of 40 per cent of what she owes," said Senator Smoot (Rep., Utah), a member of the debt refunding commission. "It looks as if we should have to let the debts stand on the books as they are, for France, Italy, and Belgium have given no assurance of any intention to pay. They have not even appointed representatives to discuss the matter with us."

See Fear of Disarm Parley.

There is a widespread opinion here that Premier Herriot is more intent upon leading off another American made arms reduction conference than on paying the French debt, even at a 50 per cent reduction.

"If France must reduce its army it prefers to do so under the terms of the proposed protocol of the league of nations with its provisions which would operate to bring the league to the support of France if France were attacked."

MORGAN TODAY FLOATS FRENCH 100 MILLION LOAN

New York, Nov. 23.—J. P. Morgan & Co. and their associates will launch a new $100,000,000 loan to the French republic here tomorrow. The loan will be offered in a single issue of twenty-five year 7 per cent gold bonds at 94. The effect of the loan is to absorb the recent series of short term credits and convert the funding into a twenty-five year operation.

J. P. Morgan & Co. today issued the following statement:
"J. P. Morgan & Co. announce that they, in association with the First National Bank of New York, National City company and Messrs. Brown Brothers & Co., are heading a syndicate to offer on Monday $100,000,000 government of the French republic twenty-five year 7 per cent sinking fund gold bonds, at 94 and accretion interest, to yield approximately 7.53 per cent without giving consideration to the operation of the sinking fund, which amounts to $4,500,000 per annum, payable in equal monthly installments beginning Jan. 1, 1925, and being sufficient to retire annually 90-20 per cent of the entire issue at 100 per cent."

Finance Minister Clementel of France announced in a communication received here:
"The proceeds of the loan are to be applied to the reduction of the government's indebtedness to the Bank of France, which will hold and use the proceeds as it may deem wise for the protection and stabilization of the franc."

MAN SLAIN WHEN HIS AUTO IS HIT BY ANOTHER CAR

Chicagoan Found Under Machine in Colorado.

One man was killed yesterday in a Chicago auto crash, another died as a result of injuries received Nov. 13, and a little girl was so seriously injured she may die.

Robert A. Thompson Jr., 27, of 1600 Jonquil avenue, a salesman, was killed when his auto was hit by another driven by Russell Kief, 23, of 4031 Drexel boulevard.

Kief was under arrest when the accident took place. He had barely missed two motorcycle policemen in a wild drive down Sheridan road. They arrested him, declared he was intoxicated, and ordered him to go to the Rogers Park police station.

At North Clark street and Lunt avenue he smashed into Thompson's machine. Two friends, riding with him, Miss Susan Cannon, 301 Simpson street, Evanston, and Lawrence McNair, 845 Eastwood avenue, escaped injury. Thompson died from skull fracture in half an hour. Kief was killed without being booked.

Louis Abel, 57, 3744 Osgood street, an employe of Lincoln park, died in the county hospital from injuries. He was hit by an auto driven by E. L. Warble, 6538 North Clark street, Nov. 13.

Helen Lucas, 10 years old, 6519 Rockwell street, suffered internal injuries and abrasions on both sides of her head when she was struck by a car driven by Paul Pickett, 10856 Indiana avenue, while crossing the street in front of 6113 South Western avenue. The girl is in St. Bernard's hospital.

The body of J. C. Wood of Chicago was found under his overturned automobile a few miles west of Strasburg, Col.

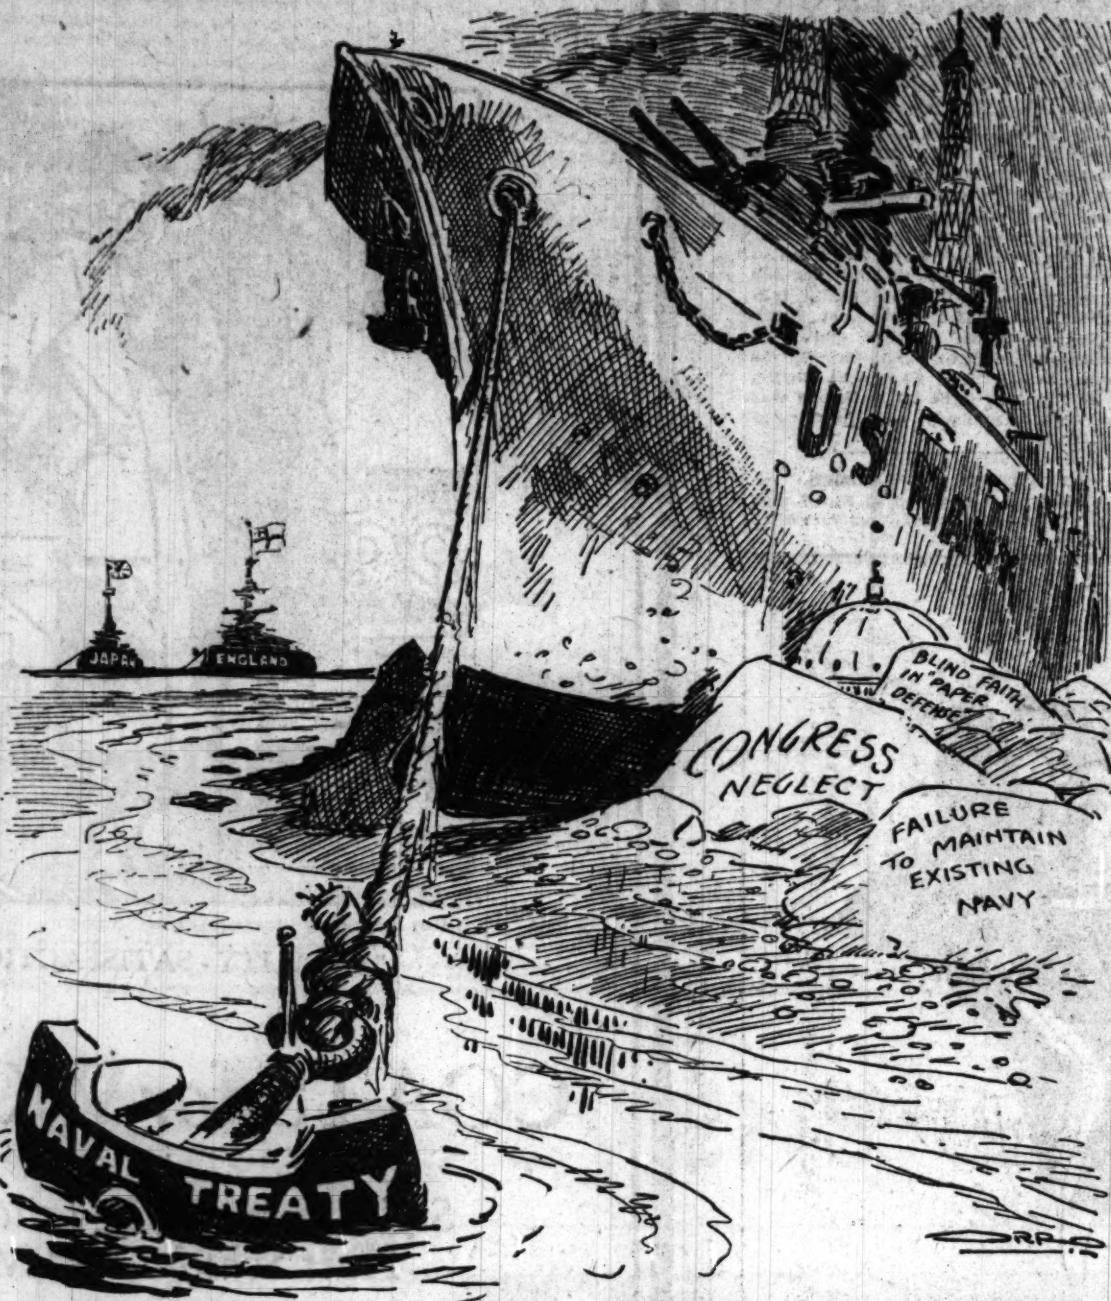

IDA IVERSON, 14, Saturday night. The car apparently had skidded and overturned when it struck a stretch of sandy road.

Ma Iversen, 7 years old, 659 North May street, died Saturday night in Milwaukee hospital. She fell in front of a truck Friday.

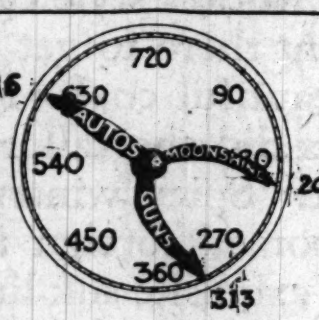

Police are looking for a man about 25 years old, who was injured when he drove a machine into another at 6th street and Ellis avenue Saturday. The auto he was driving had been stolen ten minutes before from Peter Golden, 6438 Minerva avenue. A passing motorist promised to take the injured thief to a hospital. The occupants of the other car all were slightly hurt. They are Dixie and Kathleen Flannigan, 2622 East 74th street; Evelyn McAdams, 7187 Crandon avenue, and James Griffin Jay, Richmond, Ind.

Father of Eight Dies While Attending Mass

Fred Zieske, 74, 1336 Diversey parkway, died yesterday while attending mass in St. Alphonsus Catholic church. Heart disease is believed to have been the cause. Ushers carried him from his pew and the Rev. Fr. J. McCormick, pastor of the church, administered the last sacrament. Mr. Zieske is survived by eight children.

"SOBBING CO-ED" GAINS STRENGTH; NEW CLEW FAILS

Another attempt to identify one "whispering co-ed" at the Psychopathic hospital, who was found unconscious Wednesday night in the Union station, failed yesterday when the absence of birthmarks proved that she was not a New Jersey girl.

A telegram from Newark, N. J., advised Chicago police that a girl answering in general the description of the girl in Chicago, who cannot tell her own name nor that of her people, has been missing for many weeks. The New Jersey girl's name is May Drockner and the telegram said there was a man named Edward S. Hutz who might be connected with her disappearance.

The nameless girl at the Psychopathic hospital has mentioned the name of "Edward" but cannot tell who he is. The initials E. H. S. were found in a collegiate notebook she was carrying.

The girl was stronger yesterday and more cheerful and was reported more alert mentally than she has been since she was sent to the hospital. Physicians have diagnosed her mental ailment as acute hysteria, involving a great fear of some one or something.

OMAHA BANKS MERGE. Omaha, Neb., Nov. 23.—Merger of two of the largest banking institutions in Nebraska was announced jointly last night by Walter W. Head, president of the Omaha National bank, and Harry S. Clark, president of the Corn Exchange National bank, which was merged with the former.

KERMANS

Uptown

Orthwhile achievement is its own reward as well as its own press agent. In the span of less than three short years Kermans Uptown has achieved a reputation for four things . . . first, beautiful clothes for women; second, exquisitely appointed surroundings in which to display these clothes; third, an unhurried and attentive sales service; and fourth, prices that are never high.

NINETEEN HUNDRED FROCKS

Try to realize what it means when Kermans Uptown says: "Nineteen hundred frocks, suits and coats" . . . (this season's newest types and many early Spring models) . . . "in a Sale now, at prices usually only looked for after the holidays." It means savings of hundreds of dollars to those shrewd women who buy now.

TAKE, for EXAMPLE

Daytime frocks. . . . Every one is talking about the smart sleeveless afternoon frock of crepe satin (black or blonde brown) with its deep hem of fur and its row of gold buttons, at $39.50. At the same price, $39.50, is a long-sleeved bengaline frock with deep hem of fur over satin foundation.

The price a woman pays for a beautiful dress, where the sales service is courteous and painstaking, is no more at Kermans—often less—than a woman expects to pay. Quite naturally she comes back again. So will you, after your first visit.

A VERY LARGE GROUP $24.75

Kermans frocks at $24.75 will seem unbelievable to our regular customers, but here they are . . . crepe satins with lace-and-embroidery front panels—some sleeveless, others with full length sleeves; then there are plaids, real and simulated, for the high school miss; high waisted girlish models; evening dresses in chiffon, satin, crepe—a wide variety of styles.

GUNMEN KILL TANCL IN CICERO BEER BATTLE

Slayer and Bystander
Are Wounded.

Just back from a post-election rest, ordered "the extermination of members of the gun world."

"There's going to be plenty of action from now on," he asserted.

Joseph Z. Klenha, president of the village, said it is the end of "tolerance" there. He closed every saloon

in Cicero last night.

Charge Cold-Blooded Plot.

He and Chief Theodore L. Sbroda

early reached the conclusion that

Doherty and O'Donnell had deliberately provoked a quarrel with Simet, the waiter, in order to "get a shot at Tancl" under circumstances they thought might give them a plea of self defense. It didn't work out, they declared, as the testimony was that both shot at Tancl without warning,

before Tancl had an opportunity to draw his own weapon, and when they were in no danger at all.

What had happened, it was established by Assistant State's Attorneys

Bert A. Cronson, Frank Matousek, and

Stanley Klarkowski, was this:

Doherty and O'Donnell entered the saloon at 10:30 o'clock Saturday night and drank there until about 1 o'clock. Doherty had an argument with John Hanley, an ex-policeman,

but it didn't amount to much. They took their girl companions out and returned about 6 a. m. Sunday.

Tancl, his wife, Klimas and Mrs.

Mayne McClain were seated at a table. Doherty and O'Donnell joined them. Several drinks were consumed.

Finally Simet, the waiter, tendered a bill to O'Donnell for $5 for three rounds of beer. O'Donnell said he wouldn't pay it. Tancl spoke softly and the waiter departed without his money.

Bullets Follow Quarrel.

O'Donnell followed him to the bar-

room and struck him on the right ear

with a revolver. Doherty struck him on the left side of the head with his revolver. Tancl interceded, saying the waiter had not sought to pick a fight.

O'Donnell and Doherty turned their guns on him.

Tancl had a .25 caliber automatic in the pocket of the overcoat he was witnesses at the Cicero police station. Simet and Hampel told stories that agreed. Mrs. Tancl, widow of Eddie, was defiant, and her version of what had happened was contradicted in every detail.

She said she didn't know the name of the woman who sat with her,

Tancl, and the gangsters before the killings. Mrs. Mayne McClain, the woman, was found later in the Tancl's

paternal home at 193 North Longcommon drive, Riverside. Mrs. Tancl declared that O'Donnell and Doherty sat

at the same table with her. Mrs. Mc-Clain said they did.

Mrs. Tancl said she did not know

Klimas' last name. Klimas said she had frequently visited his saloon at 29th and Cottage Grove. She said she was in the washroom when the shooting started. Four others contradicted that statement. She said she took the money from the cash registers after the shooting. The bartender said her husband took it.

She said Simet, the waiter, had left the place four hours before the shooting. This also was proved to be wrong. Prosecutor Cronson asked if she was "covering up" for anybody.

She gave him a scornful reply.

Admits Story is False.

He accused her outright of lying.

She told him not to be sarcastic. He read her the law and threatened her with indictment if she withheld material facts to a murder. Several hours afterward she admitted her previous

story was a fabrication but gave no reason for the deception.

Doherty had not been found by midnight. Cicero police had another murder charged to him, that of killing

Fred Ziegler at the Cicero Tavern, July

27. They said he had avoided Cicero

from that date until last night.

First Assistant State's Attorney

George E. Gorman said there undoubtedly would be a hanging "when Doherty

is caught."

HOW TANCL ROSE TO LORDSHIP IN CICERO BEERDOM

Steps to Power Cross
O'Banion Trail.

Eddie Tancl began life in the Canal-

port district, near 19th and Fiske streets. When he was a kid he walloped most of the other kids in the district, developing as a squat, broad shouldered, and powerful youth. In 1904 he appeared in the amateur ring

as a lightweight.

Both the C. A. A. and the Milwaukee

Athletic club saw him knock out opponents before he had learned to box.

He was a terrific slugger who could stop better men. His amateur standing was lost, however, when he admitted he had been taking money for his work.

Openly a professional in 1907, Tancl

quit the ring, then opened several saloons in his old neighborhood.

They flourished and he waxed rich.

With Bookie Jones he opened

"Tancl's" at 1657 Blue Island avenue.

It was there that Dr. Joseph Beau-

dette of the Jefferson Park hospital was shot in December, 1920.

But even a year before that Tancl had seen possibilities in Cicero. Upon investigation he found "everything was all right." He purchased the Hawthorne Park Inn from Robert Farman, former president of the village of Lyons.

He established himself securely in the suburb, then invited the boys to come on out. The boys did, slowly at first, then, in the last year, in a flood.

Tancl welded them all into his organization. He became all but a czar

in his district and his agents were legion.

Enter Torrio et Al.

But the district was too promising to

O'Donnell, with headquarters at Mc-

Elliot's saloon, 14th street and Blue

Island avenue, attempted to establish himself and his gang in the sacred domain. Tancl ran him out. Klondike went to Dean O'Banion with his troubles and was given comfort, also a job

as aid.

After that Tancl's reign weakened.

John Torrio went into Cicero. So did

Al Brown. Frankie Pope followed.

O'Banion and Altorio established their own little thrones. Last August Tancl was warned to get out.

Bomber Found Slain.

He stayed. Philip "Humdinger" or

"Hogshead" Corrigan and Joe Brooks,

both of Klondike's gang, were discovered touching off a fuse connected with sixty sticks of dynamite under the inn. They were beaten nearly to death.

On Oct. 6 Corrigan's body, with a bellet hole in the head, was found in an alley near 14th and Carpenter streets.

No one knows where Brooks is hiding.

There have been many shootings in or near the inn, but no one ever has been arrested. Philip Smith, taxi driver, was killed there last April.

Benjamin Stein, another chauffeur, was wounded there. Frank Capone was killed half a block away last spring.

But Tancl's fight for a throne was in vain. Somebody else now rules

Cicero.

Tribune Want Ads Also Sell Stoves

Tribune Want Ad efficiency can be seen not only in the quick, sure way that results are produced for advertisers of things that are sold every day in the year, but also in the resultful-ness of Want Ads offering seldom-advertised things for which there is a limited market. The success of such Want Ads shows that The Tribune Want Ad Section enjoys unparalleled public attention. Readers know that here they can find what they want, and this public habit produces profitable results for the Want Advertiser.

Mr. J. Bombenger, 9605 Winston Avenue, found a buyer for a stove through this Tribune

Some Things Are Surely Better Than Others

Merchandise that is soundly made is better than that which is skimmed to meet a price.

Policies that endeavor to insure thoroughly satisfactory service are better than policies which neglect the customer's point of view.

Service that is prompt, courteous, and efficient is better than careless and indifferent service.

Store spirit that is cordial, friendly, helpful, and sincere is better than a store spirit that lacks these qualities.

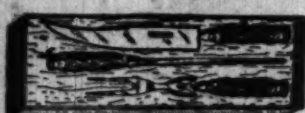

We are striving to have every detail of this business on the best side of every alternative.

CLOSING OF RADIO SHOW SEES ALL RECORDS BROKEN

Auction for Benefit of the Blind Not Finished.

By Stephen Gilchrist.

Chicago's third annual radio show came to a close last night, but the gala auction sale of some $4,000 worth of records and apparatus, donated by exhibitors for the benefit of the Tribune's radio fund for the blind, merely got a fair start. It will be continued at a date to be announced later.

A total of $1,231 was bid in last night's show, which was for a kiss, donated and delivered on the spot by "the Ultradyne Girl," and bid in by R. H. Shepard of Plattburgh, N. Y., with the auctioneers able to cover only a third of the ground.

Statistics of Exhibition. Of this sum $386 represented the money paid in cash for material delivered to the bidders or paid for deposits on sets or accessories to be turned over upon payment of the balance to the Tribune Company Radio Fund for the Blind. Besides this the Tribune fund received $16.68 in donations at the booths during the week.

The show closed with the singing of "The Star Spangled Banner" by Miss Edith Bennett, followed by "Auld Lang Syne."

Official figures showed that these records had been made: Total business done by exhibitors, $4,500,000, against the New York record of $5,000,000.

Total attendance, 139,902, against New York's six day record of 125,800. The attendance yesterday and last night was 21,185.

Thompson Starts Auction. William Hale Thompson started off the auction, knocking down a R. C. A. superheterodyne for $150.

Then Charles Irrgang and U. J. Harrmann took charge of the auctioneering, full details of which will be given in the Radio section of the Tribune next Sunday. They were assisted by Eugene F. McDonald Jr., James F. Kerr, Robert Himmel, and a number of other volunteers.

One of the touching donations to the Tribune fund for the blind was that of $27.50 by Coliseum employees.

DAWES TO SERVE ON COMMITTEE FOR LEGION FUND

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 23.—Acceptance by Charles G. Dawes of the vice chairmanship of the honorary committee created by the American Legion to aid its campaign for an endowment fund of $5,000,000 to care for disabled war veterans and orphans of fallen ex-service men, was announced today at Legion headquarters here.

Russell G. Creviston, national adjutant and executive secretary of the CHARLES G. DAWES committee, announced that twelve other men, several of them cabinet members, had accepted the Legion's invitation to serve on the committee.

The list included Secretary of State Hughes, Secretary Mellon, Secretary Hoover, Secretary Work, Secretary Gore, and Secretary Davis.

Representing the navy will be Secretary Wilbur, Admiral E. W. Eberle, chief of naval operations, and Maj. Gen. John J. Lejeune of the marine corps.

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE—PICKING A WINNER

Elmer Finds End of Day Is Perfect

But Discovers Wonderful Music Every Hour.

By Elmer Douglass.

For once the last shall come first. For overshadowing everything else, this wonderful day was the closing hour devoted to Brahms and Cyril Scott by Charles Gabriel Jr., musical director of W-G-N, Ethel Wakefield, soprano, and the Drake ensemble.

Brahms, the intellectual, does not seem so distant now, and will must please note that Brahms' compositions are becoming so familiar to us listeners that we can almost whistle the airs that are being played.

And from now on we have the key to the man and the total characteristics of Cyril Scott, so that we will be able to recognize him should we tune in while one of his compositions is being played.

If we are not badly mistaken these 9 to 10:30 Sunday "evenings with the great composers" will prove to be one of the most things ever given to us by any station.

The appearance of 19 year old Miss Rae Bernstein, pianist, as soloist with the Chicago theater orchestra on the Monday concert in Borikewicz's piano concerto would seem, at this distance, to justify heartiest approval for both the young artist and the little known composition.

It is a modern work without being too modern, for it was quite melodious, only requiring some fifteen minutes in the performance, and it seemed to be well played. The orchestral program was thoroughly enjoyable.

A group of duets by Mrs. Frances Libbe, contralto, and her daughter, Margaret, soprano, on the 2:30 W-G-N concert made a striking appeal to this listener. Somehow they created an atmosphere of a peculiarly noble kind.

The Lyon & Healy 2:30 concert just simply overstepped the bounds of this column. Every artist and every composition played seemed to be of the highest technical and musical order.

The station seemed to be using full power and, thank goodness, this concert must have been heard in the home towns of most of the students. And from now on this listener is for high power for stations that have something to say. The fewer of the other kind of stations the better.

I notice I won't have a weak ending after all, for fourteen members of the Chicago Mendelssohn club, Harrison Whit director, were at WERE on their 7 o'clock concert. Wouldn't it be wonderful if a chorus like this

U. OF C. BEGINS CAMPAIGN FOR $17,500,000 FUND

With the raising of $17,500,000 as its goal for 1925 the University of Chicago has launched a development program calculated to accomplish within the next fifteen years a doubling of its present resources—approximately $54,000,000.

This announcement was made yesterday by Harold H. Swift, president of the board of trustees, and Ernest De Witt Burton, president of the university.

The most pressing need is for $5,000,000 for equipment of teaching and research, the university officials said.

Purpose of Fund.

"We aim not to create the wealthiest nor the largest of American universities," President Burton said. "What we seek is to build the best possible university for service in the region and in the particular fields where its opportunities and responsibilities lie."

The 1925 program calls for $11,000,000 worth of new buildings. The plans contemplate a field house at Stagg field just north of Bartlett stadium.

It has been decided to turn the athletic field so that the football gridiron will run east and west instead of north and south. New permanent stands will be erected on the east and north sides of the field. With use of the temporary stands it is estimated that the changes on Stagg field will accommodate 60,000.

Appeal to Alumni and Citizens.

"In obtaining the $17,500,000 for its immediate needs," Mr. Swift said, "the university must rely largely upon its alumni and upon citizens of Chicago and the middle west."

John D. Rockefeller, who has been our largest benefactor, made his last gift in 1910 with the statement that he was acting on the early and permanent conviction that the institution should be turned over to the people of Chicago and the middle west when it had reached a reasonable maturity, and that the time had then arrived to make the final gift.

Salandra Also Makes Appeal.

A similar appeal was made by former Premier Salandra, who also represented himself as a staunch friend of the premier, last night. It was one of the most dramatic moments in the chamber for months. Premier Mussolini was impelled to interrupt the appeal with a series of remarks of endorsement. When Sig. Salandra told Premier Mussolini he should moderate the language of his friends the premier replied:

"Yes, but beginning with myself."

After Sig. Salandra's appeal Premier Mussolini, much affected, apologized contritely to parliament for the events of Nov. 4. He admitted the charge of Nov. 4.

MUSSOLINI, THE EAGLE, COOS LIKE DOVE; SAVES JOB

Italian Premier Says
He'll Curb Fascisti.

BY LARRY RUE.

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)
[Overnight: 1924: By The Chicago Tribune.]
ROME, Nov. 23.—Promising not only to prosecute mercilessly the Fascisti against the population but to moderate the utterances of the Fascisti, beginning with himself, Premier Mussolini in the chamber of deputies late last night averted a perilous crisis by breaking with his friends, who appealed to him to pacify the country.

It has been difficult for observers during the last few days of parliament to recognize any vestige of the former Mussolini, who until two weeks ago characterized the march on Rome two years ago as a real revolution and as late as Oct. 28, speaking from an armored car in Milan, assured the formidable Fascist legions, pointing bayonets skyward, that the government was strong but he was stronger than the government.

It is evident that the Fascist attack on the war veterans' victory demonstration on Nov. 4, which caused even the close friends of the premier to waver and plead with him to stop "brother killing brother," convinced Premier Mussolini of the necessity of weeding out the undesirable elements of the Fascist party. When an eloquent, blind, armless orator made a touching appeal to prevent the Fascist excesses the premier himself was moved to tears.

ECUADOR WOMAN WANTS ALL IN U.S. TO LEARN SPANISH

A pretty little woman with a mop of black curly hair, contrasting with her brilliant red shawl, yesterday made permanent peace between all American countries and the abolition of warfare on the western continent seem an easy and much to be desired thing.

The speaker was Miss Pastora Flores, representative of Ecuador at the Woman's Pan-American congress. She came to Chicago to speak yesterday and today before the members of the Woman's International League for Freedom and Peace.

Pass Mussolini's Budget.

A tremendous ovation, in which the galleries joined, greeted the premier's statement.

The internal budget was carried, 287 against 17, with 13 abstaining, and with Sig. Salandra supporting the premier.

Former Premier Giolitti and Orlando were among those voting against it.

The budget vote, which of course was anticipated, marks the end of the possibility of a crisis, which has been impending since the attack of the Fascisti on the war veterans.

DR. PERCY GRANT IS MENTALLY ILL AND UNDER CARE

Condition Is Serious,
Physicians Say.

genius that brought him to New York in 1893 as the rector of the Church of the Ascension.

Here he literally flashed into prominence. He became known as a daring and venturesome pilot in matters of the church, opening his pulpit to Samuel Gompers, the labor leader, to the radicals of the time, and to anybody else who had a social message.

At the same time he was a familiar figure at the Old Liberal club in Greenwich Village, where the bold spirits of the town met to make free exchange of views. There he was as familiar a figure as the free-thinking Henrietta Rodman.

Time and time again he came into conflict with his church. For brevity, the latest was a break with Bishop Manning over the pulpit refusal of Dr. Grant to accept the virgin birth of Christ—a controversy that raged all over the land.

Mrs. Lydig Enters Scene.

And next on the stage comes Rita de Acosta, a young and beautiful daughter of Cuban ancestry and wealth. She was one of the beautiful De Acosta sisters. As a young girl she married W. E. D. Stokes, millionaire of strife and storm, now suffering at Johns Hopkins hospital. Her life with Stokes was miserable. She divorced him.

And along the pathway one finds her being borne, like some beautiful statue undraped, from the horrors of the famous Victoria hotel fire, where a passing cab rescued the modern Lady Godiva from vulgar stare.

Maj. Philip Lydig, society man, was her next husband. Again disappointment and divorce. The courts of the old world knew her. At the opera, all glasses swung to her box for a glimpse of what critics called the most beautiful shoulders in the world.

Suddenly the woman of society and of fashion dropped from the superficial, glamour-begot world of the gay. She had become the inspiration and the love of Percy Stickney Grant.

Grant's Tribute to Her.

Let him in the dedication of his book of Verses tell the story.

To Rita H. de Alba de Acosta, an ambitious and stimulating intelligence, gifted with a knowledge of the beautiful. A Tanagra figure come to life; a captivating companion.

And, in the contrast—Consider—The figure of Nelly Kelly, chambermaid.

She was born in Montreal, Can., and her parents are still supposed to reside in that Canadian city. She "went into service," as they have it in the English homes, and her last post was in the family of a rich silk merchant at Toronto.

By way of further comparison, take some small account of the physical qualities of the two women.

Mrs. Lydig was graceful and lithe. She was born to the manner and showed it in every line and act. Her face was fair and gentle. Her demeanor as softly pleasing as the gentle notes of a cello.

Nelly brought 5 feet 5 inches of agile frame to New York. Thin and plain, she had passed the last fifteen years of her life making beds, dusting the furniture, or "dealing 'em off the arm" as a waitress of restaurants.

She obtained employment at the Grant rectory and at evening sought amusement among the dancing sets to which she might be admitted. One morning two male companions brought her home in hilarious mood and deposited her on the rectory steps, shrieking and kicking.

Rector and Girl Face to Face. Dr. Grant had her put to bed. The next day she faced him, asked for a chance, and told him the story of her life. Dr. Grant was touched. As she unburdened her soul, he condemned her not. He began watching over her as a father. He kept her from evil way to such happiness as the countryside affords.

Then came the snapping of the link that held his own mighty mental forces. And through the gap in the broken intellect, leapt Nelly Kelly. And out of the gap went Rita de Acosta Lydig.

Within a few days after his resignation, Dr. Grant transferred his home to his country place at Bedford Hills, N. Y. Nelly went along. To those who venture to the house, Nelly seems to hold the place more of mistress than of maid. She is still the belle of the other days and dances her way to such happiness as the countryside affords.

Mrs. Graham, for eleven years housekeeper for the doctor, does not direct her movements. And Mrs. Madge Stone, a sister to Dr. Grant, bears toward the former chambermaid the attitude of one of the household.

Dr. Grant, himself, when seen earlier today by a reporter, appeared but a shadow of his former self. He sat on the porch of his home, covered with sweaters and blankets.

Combing Won't Rid
Hair of Dandruff

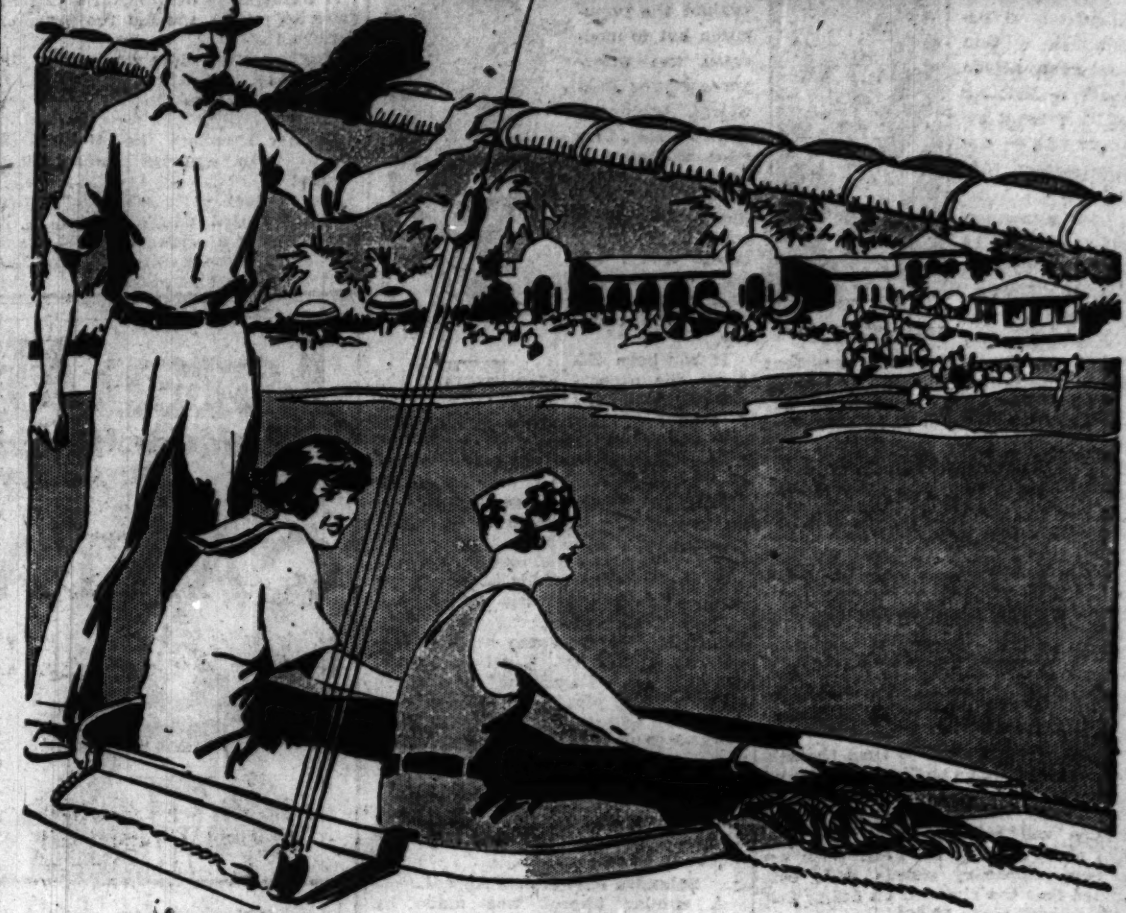

The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to eliminate it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid Arven; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

Do this tonight and by morning most, if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and two or three more applications will completely eliminate and entirely destroy every single skin and trace of it so that how much dandruff you may have, you will find that all itching and itching of the scalp will stop at once, and your hair will be soft, lustrous, clean, shiny and soft and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid Arven at any drug store and it is free to be used.

EVERY MAN'S MOTOR

TRY this on your street car:

Size up your fellow passengers and guess how many of them own automobiles.

It would surprise you to know how many do.

They leave their automobiles at home and ride to their places of business on the street car because it is cheaper, easier, quicker and safer.

It's no cinch to drive an automobile—at a cost of some 10 cents a mile—through rush hour traffic in all kinds of weather, find a place to park it during the day and then get from the parking place to office or store.

On the street car one can read his newspaper in peace, safe from these annoyances and hazards.

So automobile owners are more and more using the Surface Lines for their daily trips to and from work, reserving their automobiles for occasional pleasure jaunts or cross country trips.

The street car is every man's motor.

RULE OF CHINA PUT IN HANDS OF CONSERVATIVES

Tuan Selects Cabinet;
Feng Quits Army.

BULLETIN.

PEKING, Nov. 24.—(By the Associated Press.)—Tuan Chai-jui, former premier of China and former leader of the Anfu or military party, was today inaugurated as chief executive of the new government of the republic.

BY CHARLES BAILEY.
(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)
PEKING, Nov. 23.—With simple ceremony, but with a strong hope of harmonizing the Yangtze and Mukden factions, Tuan Chai-jui will assume office Monday.

He is busy selecting his cabinet. This far not a single progressive has been picked. The posts are going to none but conservatives, who have been inactive for several years.

The greatest aid to Tuan's plan is an eleventh hour agreement between Gen. Chang Tso-lin and Gen. Peng Yu-hsiang whereby the Mukden war lord succeeded in subjugating the Christian general and getting control of his armies. Gen. Peng followed Tuan to Peking last night, convinced his generals, and announced his retirement.

Regarding himself, Gen. Peng said he would resign his command and retire from the army, proceeding to America or Europe for a tour.

As for the differences between Gen. Wu Peifu and Gen. Chang, Marshal Tuan is hopeful that these will speedily be composed. Gen. Chang's son, evidently speaking on behalf of his father, said Gen. Wu's never admitted defeat, and while Gen. Wu defeated his father in 1922, the score was even now, and there was no reason why they should not reach an agreement.

O'BANION AID UNDER FIRE IN A. F. L. SESSION

Theatrical Janitors' System Is Hit.

BY THOMAS WREN.

El Paso, Tex., Nov. 24.—(Special.)—One of the principal fights scheduled for the remaining sessions of the American Federation of Labor convention is between the Chicago Theatrical Janitors and the International Union of Steam and Operating Engineers. The engineers claim that for several years the officials of the janitors have enlisted the engineers of Chicago motion picture houses into their union. Under this arrangement, they say, they are paid about 40 per cent under the regular scale.

Gen. A. J. and Louis A. Allen control the theatrical janitors' union. Allen was one of Dean O'Banion's chief lieutenants. International President Studdell has demanded the labor federation adjust the controversy by compelling Allen and Allen to relinquish jurisdiction over the engineers.

The convention has upheld the report of the executive council giving jurisdiction to elevator constructors over elevator operators and starters.

This organization is controlled by William Green, the president of the Chicago Hat Janitors' union.

His Fight Learning.

With the motor bus business increasing each year, a controversy has developed between the teamsters and street car men's union over the right to organize the bus employees. Several hearings have been held on the dispute, and it is reported that the final decision will favor the officials of the street car men's union.

Then there are disputes between the plumbers and boiler-makers, the teamsters and railway clerks, the machinists and electrical workers, the hat-makers and cap-makers, and the cleaners, dyers, and pressers.

Labor officials are inclined to believe that the demand of the building trades department to oust the international union of carpenters from membership in the American Federation of Labor will be defeated at this convention. Ignoring a jurisdictional award has been the cause of the carpenters' trouble.

Armored Trains to Go.
Official unionists of President Elect Calles of Mexico notified convention officials tonight of arrangements to carry the American party to the Mexican capital. Two special trains will be provided for the party, expected to number approximately 300.

In view of surmises of a revolutionary uprising in the northern states, spokesmen for the Mexican government said, pilot trains will precede the specials, and two armored cars will be attached to each train.

Advertising Experience— Priceless, Yet Adds No Cost!!

Who can measure the value of successful experience that guides the surgeon's skill, the engineer's judgment, the financier's wisdom, the strategist's ingenuity!!

In advertising, successful experience helps solve merchandising difficulties, helps to safeguard expenditures and insure profits, helps to save that most important thing—TIME in getting results.

Business Plans for 1925 may be of epochal importance in meeting the keenest competition of all industrial history and in grasping opportunity that is seldom equalled. We urge business executives and financial and legal counselors to write for our book "Four Square Advertising"—of great importance in helping get viewpoint on business needs NOW.

INSTALLMENT I.

PALMYRA SEES A STRANGE SIGHT.

When the square sun browned hand with the lace mitt upon it was thrust from the outer darkness in through the port of her cabin aboard the yacht Rainbow Miss Palmyra had been lying, for some time, with eyes closed. As the chill air of the California coast had come puffing into the port over her berth the girl shivered and reached for the coverlet. When she did so a ray from the cabin light, weeping back and forth, struck in a prismatic refraction from the bevel of a small mirror. She picked up the glass, and gazed down under her covers.

As she lay, her little young body moving a little from side to side with the motion of the vessel, Palmyra regarded herself intimately. She looked into the friendly blue eyes that gazed back at her from the depths of their velvet black pupils.

Her thought turned to Van Buren Rutger and John Thurston, at this moment above decks. Were they really truly in love with those eyes, that face? Was it, then, such a face to be desired, to be yearned for, to be possessed?

Good Morning!

The plot of "Gerald Cranston's

Lady" has been one of the most widely

utilized in the world. The yellow

backed novelists—rather those who

turn out the yellow backed novels—

adore it. The Elinor Glynas have been known to waste quantities of ink over

situations similar to some of those it provides. And what, O, what wondrous

the melodramas have done without the

rich man and the poor girl—one of

them preferably a high born lord or

lady, who would because one wants

money and the other position!

The marriage of convenience! Here

it is again!

He was a captain of industry.

An English lady of rank was she—

And they marry with the perfectly

cold blooded understanding that it is

a marriage in name only. The

marriage vows are merely to insure

money for the education of Lady

Hermione's small son and a handsome

settlement on the lady and her child

and to give the hard boiled money

king the added advantage he feels the

husband of a member of the English

aristocracy will have.

Each in his own way each has

scorned. Angela, cousin of Hermione,

is mad about Gerald Cranston. Gordon Ibbotson is gaunt with unrequited passion for Hermione. When

DAY BREAKS FOR HOPE.

The next morning, when the incredible tragedy of her son's arrival and death had been broken to Mrs. Van Dorn, it was to Hope that the stricken old woman turned as the family entered the death chamber. At the door the secretary instinctively held back for a moment, then yielded to the pressure of the trembling hand on her arm. On the other side, Jim supported his mother, while Maud Schuyler,

dry-eyed and with head erect, walked unseeing behind them. The shuttered room looked much as it had looked at dawn, save that the sheet over the long, still figure was covered with roses.

Mrs. Van Dorn tottered to the bedside, laid one look upon her son's face, and fell on her knees beside him.

"He's smiling at me!" she shrilly cried. "Do you see that, Jim? Do you see that, Maud? That little twist at the corners of his mouth? He's smiling at me, I tell you!

He always smiled at me just that way. He wants me to know I won't be long behind him!"

Maud Schuyler bent forward and, across the kneeling

"He is!" she dazedly stammered. "He really is! See,

Jim, he's smiling!"

"I can't see anything." Young Van Dorn dashed the back of his hand across his eyes, his features puckered and drawn like those of a child about to burst into tears.

"But look, Jim, he is smiling! Look at him!"

With another dab at his eyes the younger brother bent and gazed.

"You're right!" he cried hoarsely. "He is smiling!

Isn't it like him to smile at us? And God, how it helps!"

Hope slipped out of the room. None of the three would miss her now. They were caught up, swept away, by an exaltation of which the memory could never leave them.

Bertie, the beloved, had gone; but he had smiled at them in his passing, and the smile was at once a comfort and a promise. The feeling that moved the three in that moment and throughout the years to come was expressed by the mother as she wrote heavily to her feet.

"I can wait now!" she said.

Hope cried out. It was only just the beginning. She could barely see the advancing gray shape coming over the snow, but in another moment she would know what the thing was.

"Here, Anne, wake up!"

Osborne's voice spoke to her; Osborne's hand caught her own, pressed it, and held it firmly. Through the dim and Sir Gerald—as he is by the end of the picture—are much in love in time for the finale.

There's nothing spiffy, unusual or especially well acted about this film.

With no comedy intended—Marguerite

Good Morning!

The plot of "Gerald Cranston's

Lady" has been one of the most widely

utilized in the world. The yellow

backed novelists—rather those who

turn out the yellow backed novels—

adore it. The Elinor Glynas have been

known to waste quantities of ink over

situations similar to some of those it

provides. And what, O, what wondrous

the melodramas have done without the

rich man and the poor girl—one of

them preferably a high born lord or

lady, who would because one wants

money and the other position!

The marriage of convenience! Here

it is again!

He was a captain of industry.

An English lady of rank was she—

And they marry with the perfectly

cold blooded understanding that it is

a marriage in name only. The

marriage vows are merely to insure

money for the education of Lady

Hermione's small son and a handsome

settlement on the lady and her child

and to give the hard boiled money

king the added advantage he feels the

husband of a member of the English

aristocracy will have.

Each in his own way each has

scorned. Angela, cousin of Hermione,

is mad about Gerald Cranston. Gor-

GRIDIRON SEASON ENDS WITH MORE NOTABLE UPSETS

By WALTER ECKERSALL.
With the exception of a scattering of games to be played on Thanksgiving day and two on the week-end, the 1924 football season came to a close with the close with the playing of last Saturday's struggles, which resulted in the usual number of surprises.

The season will long be remembered for its inconsistency. With but few exceptions the eleven have played good football on one Saturday and the next. In some cases this was due to the importance of early games, while in others it was due to the fact that the spirit, which has so much to do with the desired results.

Notre Dame, Yale, Dartmouth, Pennsylvania, Stanford, and California have played about as consistently as any eleven in the country. At the present writing Notre Dame should be proclaimed the national champion, as it has been neither defeated nor tied. Others have engaged in drawn battles but have not been defeated.

Maroons Get "Title" Emblems.
It will be many years before such a question ever arises in the western conference as the one which now exists. Chicago is the only undefeated eleven in the association, and Coach Stagg will give the players gold footballs emblematic of the conference championship. The Maroons won from Purdue, Indiana, and Northwestern, and were tied by Ohio State, Illinois, and Wisconsin. In addition they defeated Brown in an inter-sectional contest, but lost to Missouri in another.

In the Missouri valley conference the 10 to 6 victory of Ames over Drake will result in a lot of wrangling over the title. The Ames victory leaves the championship in question, for many believe Nebraska and Missouri are entitled to the laurels, although the Cornhuskers defeated Missouri, the only setback for the latter eleven.

On the Pacific coast Leland Stanford and California are knotted for the honor. These eleven played to a 20 to 19 tie on Saturday, and both will lay claim to the honor. Southern California won over Idaho, 13 to 6. Colorado won the Rocky Mountain conference championship by trouncing the Colorado Aggies, 26 to 0. It is the second successive title won by Colorado, coached by Myron Witham, a former Dartmouth player.

Nebraska, which has been defeated by Iowa and Michigan and tied to a score by Minnesota, rose to the occasion last Saturday and held Chicago to a scoreless tie in about the best game of football the Cardinal has played all season. The Badgers displayed an aggressive line attack and were just as effective on the defense for Chicago's smashing offense and forward pass play. In fact, the Cardinal had the best of the general play. The men performed with that characteristic Wisconsin spirit which has been absent in some games played this year. It was a splendid ending to a rather uneventful season.

Michigan Defeat Surprise.
Iowa, which has been rated a strong team by this writer despite its one defeat by Illinois in which the Hawkeyes and Blue were added materially in the opening quarter by a strong wind, defeated Michigan, 9 to 2. It was a surprise to followers of the Hawkeyes and Blue eleven which had made a great recovery following the defeat by Illinois on Oct. 15. As a result of this victory the season must be considered a success at Iowa City as the team has met with only one defeat and that by Illinois.

Purdue closed its season in a blaze of glory by winning over its respected rival, Indiana, 26 to 7. As the game was played the Bothers had the advantage in general play and deserved to win.

Purple Gives N. D. Hard Game.
Northwestern, represented by the best team in years, furnished another surprise for the football world by holding the strong Notre Dame eleven to a 13 to 6 score. The Purple carried the battle to the Rockmen through the middle of the struggle and were in danger of holding down the score and came within narrow margins of not only tying the score but winning the great struggle. Despite the defeat, the Purple was locked upon its moral victory for the Purple, which gave Notre Dame just about its hardest game of the season, despite the fact that the Purple's eleven has met some of the leading teams of the country.

Notre Dame will go east this week to meet Carnegie Tech at Pittsburgh on the week-end. If the South Bend team wins this struggle, the general opinion of football men is that Notre Dame will be entitled to the national championship.

PURPLE FANS PLEASED WITH '24 GRID SEASON

The football curtain has rung down and uniform will be tucked away this week, but followers of Northwestern university's eleven are highly pleased with the showing of the eleven against the nationally famous Notre Dame cavalry. The hard battle Northwestern gave Rockne's eleven and the close score of the Chicago game have made it a successful season for Coach Glenn Thistlethwaite and his wildcats.

Although four games were won and four lost, no one at Northwestern is ashamed of the record. The Purple walloped South Dakota, Cincinnati, Michigan Aggies and Indiana, but dropped games to Purdue, Chicago Notre Dame, and Michigan.

Purple fans already are looking forward to next year, for only two regulars will be counted out by graduation. Capt. Wienecke and Parsons, guard, who rank with the best in the conference, finished their gridiron activities against Notre Dame. Besides these men, a few new stars, including Graham, and Townsend, will not wear the Purple again.

Lewis Promising Full Back.
With many sophomores on the team and at least two brilliant freshmen coming up, prospects will be bright. Bruce, Johnson, Cohen, Patrick, Baker, and White have two more years of competition. Mathews and Lawry will play one more season.

While the loss of Wienecke will be felt, next year's team full back position ability will be ready. He is Leiland Lewis, 197 pounder, who has crashed through the varsity wall and around the ends in the practice sessions. Another fresh who may become a regular next season is Victor Gustafson, fleet half back from Wheaton.

Staggs to Elect
University of Chicago gridder will pose for their annual picture at the midway this afternoon and it is probable that at the same time they will elect the 1925 varsity captain. Among the men who will be eligible for the job is Elmer Lampe, end, who performed outstandingly on the 1924 team, and who sustained a fractured leg before the start of the last season which kept him out of competition this year. Lampe will rejoin the Maroons next fall.

Others who are in line for the job are Austin McCarthy, the quick defender; full back; Bill Abbott, quarter back; Bob Curley, quarter back; Bob Henderson, tackle; Graham Kemmeln, half back; Gene Francis, full back; Sam Hibben, Fred Hobbsch, and Marty Pokras, linemen, all of whom have another year of competition, custom demanding that juniors be selected for the captaincies.

Three Illini Among First Ten Scorers on Big Ten Grids

[By the Associated Press.]
Illinois finished the 1924 conference football season with three men among the first ten scorers of the Big Ten. Red Grange, the touchdown king, leading all the rest, Gallivan fourth, and Britton, conference champion point kicker, fifth.

Grange won the individual scoring leadership, despite his inability to get into Saturday's game with Ohio. His shoulder was badly injured a week ago in the Minnesota contest. He was also held out of the De Pauw practice game and played throughout the four periods only twice this season.

Rockwell of Michigan was also unable to add to his season total. Michigan scoring only a safety against Iowa. Rockwell finishing the year at a point behind Grange. Rockwell made more than half his team's points during the season.

Ralph Baker of Northwestern displayed the greatest versatility of the point leaders in winning third, place, scoring seven field goals and nine point touchdowns. Baker also scored more than half his team's points.

Michigan and Purdue each had other men in the Big Ten point scoring list, while Wisconsin's season total, 15, divided among four. Chicago had one player in a tie for tenth place, its highest ranking player for the year. Neither Wisconsin nor Ohio State had a player among the first ten.

HERE AND THERE OUTDOORS.
ALTHOUGH duck hunting is usually rated as a sport and it is a common thing to hear how expensive this sport is, no one has ever taken the time to figure up in dollars and cents the value of the birds killed each year if the American people had to go out and buy them in the market. To collect figures on this subject (so many pounds of meat at so much per pound) would surely drive home to our lawmakers the money value of America's waterfowl. In the few states that require hunters to make written returns on their licenses it is now possible to judge pretty accurately how many waterfowl are killed in a season in that particular state. But that doesn't give us a nation-wide survey of game bags, something that we would like to see.

Another item on which we'd like to get some accurate figures is the number of "Hungarian partridges" in the United States. Word reaches us that so many have been reported to England and the United States that Czechoslovakia has put the ban on exports of these birds.

Six Cases Settled.
This record shows the Trojans here settled six of these satisfactory proving protests unwarranted, while two were held from playing and two were withdrawn from the eligible list. The University of California, the record shows, proved only two cases unwarranted, while two cases were not satisfactorily explained, two were not listed as eligible and four were withdrawn from eligibility.

Two Bears Not Cleared.
Of the Golden Bears cases not satisfactorily explained to date were Roy Alexander and Fred Coltrin, Alexander facing charges of playing with and against professional football players, and Coltrin of the freshman team.

Coincident with the announcement of the "white book," it became known that the University of Southern California will go into the Pacific Coast football conference season in Portland next month prepared to demand satisfaction.

N. D. NAME PILES UP 218 POINTS
The Notre Dame football team has piled up 218 points during the season, a total greater than that of any other middle western eleven. Only 25 count-ers have been scored against the Hoosier school, Army and Nebraska having scored touchdowns and Georgia Tech, Wisconsin, and Northwestern having scored by field goals.

The four horsemen of Notre Dame have scored 185 of the points, Crowley, Layden, Miller, and Stuhldreher, all of whom graduate this year, having totaled 22 touchdowns and no field goals, despite repeated attempts. Crowley leads the cavalry with 45 points, three Big Ten players leading him, as follows: Grange, Illinois, 78; Rockwell, Michigan, 77; Baker, Northwestern, 66; Britton, Michigan, 52.

Trojans OPEN FIGHT TO CLEAR RECORD

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 23.—(By Associated Press.)—The University of Southern California has opened its campaign to clear the stigma cast upon it by action of the University of California and Stanford university by discontinuance of athletic relations. The first move was publication of a "white book" of correspondence between the institutions and a review of all cases of protests.

The white book is a report by the faculty athletic committee to the trustees of the university on the present athletic situation. It reviews ten cases of protests of U. S. C. players and ten cases of protests on U. C. players.

This record shows the Trojans here settled six of these satisfactory proving protests unwarranted, while two were held from playing and two were withdrawn from the eligible list. The University of California, the record shows, proved only two cases unwarranted, while two cases were not satisfactorily explained, two were not listed as eligible and four were withdrawn from eligibility.

ONLY 3 MORE DAYS TO ENTER TRIBUNE RACE

BY WALLACE ABBEY.
More colleges color was added to the second annual cross country run of THE TRIBUNE A. A. yesterday when five University of Chicago runners signed up to compete unattached in the big event, while others held next Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock in Washington park. A conference ruling prohibits athletes from competing under school colors on Sunday.

Heading the list of Maroon students is Henry Bourke, who last year finished fourth and during the greater part of the race fought with John Ray, the victor, for the lead. Last year Bourke won a cross country event in the morning and competed in THE TRIBUNE race in the afternoon. He is one of the best long distance men developed by Tom Eck at the Midway.

Entries Close Wednesday.
The other three Maroon competitors will be Vic Levine, Charles McNeill, Irving Farley and P. Holmes. All three are members of the University of Chicago team.

With a squad already entered from Armour institute and with entries expected from Northwestern, Illinois and Marquette universities, the race promises to furnish some spirited competition between college and club runners.

Only three more days remain during which entries will be accepted. The lists close Wednesday and after that day it will be impossible to get into the race. An entry blank appears on the sports pages for the convenience of those desiring to compete.

Trophies on Display.
A team of four runners will represent the Bachelor Buddies club, according to an entry received yesterday. This team will make a serious bid for the team trophy.

Lee Thomas Giff, 6113 Drexel avenue; Ralph R. Rains, 4747 Calumet avenue; Charles Collins, 5122 Exchange avenue; and Harry Haverman, 5618 South Hoyne avenue.

The thirty-two trophies and medals to be awarded the winners will be placed on display today and after that day it will be impossible to get into the race. An entry blank appears on the sports pages for the convenience of those desiring to compete.

A complete list of officials will be announced later in the week and athletes will be given instructions regarding the starting point and the course, which will this year contain four obstacles. A complete list of the entries will be published in THE TRIBUNE next Sunday together with the number each athlete will carry.

STOCK AVERAGE PRICES JUMP TO NEW HIGH RECORD

New York, Nov. 23.—[Special.]—As a result of the wild speculation in the stock market which has prevailed since President Coolidge's election and brought about gains of from 1 to 10 points or more in individual stocks, the New York Times' averages for representative stocks established a new high record for all time.

The average, which is made up of twenty-five representative railroad issues and an equal number of industrial stocks, reached a peak of 124.49 last Wednesday. This average compares with a high point of 93.57 reached in the post-war inflation markets of 1913, which was the highest on record, previous to the current year.

Rails and Industrials Move Together.
An unusual feature of the current stock market speculation is that both railroad and industrial stocks are moving upward in unison, whereas in previous periods of stock market speculation the rails and the industrials alternated in the matter of leadership.

The peak for the industrial average last week was 127.83. This average, however, is still far below the record high for this group of stocks, which was 133.11, touched on Nov. 5, 1913. In the markets of 1913, however, the industrials were the chief medium of speculation and the rails, as a group, were laggards.

Rail Peak in 1911.
The high point of the railroad average for all time. The peak level for the rail average was established in the active rail markets of 1911. On June 6 of that year the high point of the rail average was 95.61, but on the same day the industrial average was only 65.76.

The following table gives the high and low points on the railway and the industrial, as compiled by the New York Times, since the records were started in 1911:

	High	Low	High	Low
1914	77.73	67.80	127.83	103.26
1923	97.05	84.97	118.44	98.05
1922	76.53	65.07	116.54	79.80
1921	56.54	47.50	90.60	66.24
1920	63.55	52.03	89.63	62.81
1919	68.78	54.48	128.12	80.37
1918	70.75	58.94	91.55	71.31
1917	81.23	62.06	92.74	62.81
1916	85.70	74.83	119.30	86.60
1915	83.84	66.13	109.97	61.63
1914	84.94	66.25	61.68	48.48

DOLLAR LAST WEEK WORTH 64.6 CENTS UPON 1913 BASIS

In terms of the wholesale prices of 200 representative commodities, the purchasing power of a dollar last week averaged 64.6 cents, compared with what it would have bought in 1913. For March, the last month of the first quarter of 1924, it averaged 67.1 pre-war cents, and for the first quarter 68.1. For June, the last month of the second quarter, the purchasing power of the dollar averaged 65.5, and for the second quarter 68.1. For September it averaged 67.3, and for the third quarter 67.9.

The commodity prices averaged 154.8 per cent of the pre-war level during the week, 148.7 during March, 150.5 during the first quarter, 143 during June, 147.4 for the second quarter, 148.9 for September, and 147.1 for the third quarter.

For October, first month of the final quarter, commodities averaged 151.5 and the dollar 63.9 pre-war cents.

These are the figures of Prof. Irving Fisher. In the following table the index number shows prevailing prices compared with those of 1913, and the purchasing power represents what $1 would buy in the period covered, comparable with 1913:

	Index number	Purchasing power
1913	100	100
1923	109	91.7
1922	107	93.5
1921	105	95.2
1920	103	97.1
1919	101	99.0
1918	99	101.0
1917	97	103.1
1916	95	105.3
1915	93	107.5
1914	91	109.7

The following table gives the railway, industrial, and combined average for some of the interesting dates prior to 1911, the following figures being based upon the selling prices of virtually the same stocks now used in compiling the Times averages:

	Rail	Indus.	Comb.
1913	91.41	75.93	87.08
1912	87.23	88.20	87.50
1911	80.61	84.40	80.78

The price quotations are taken by Prof. Fisher from Dun's weekly review and the weights from the war industries board's reports.

Nov. 15, 1907..... 93.77 33.67 48.33
Jan. 20, 1906..... 113.78 74.36 97.51
Nov. 9, 1903..... 77.87 44.30 86.08

Daily Records Broken.

In addition to the rapid advance in individual stocks and the establishment of a new high record for the combined average, previous records as to the daily average transactions were also broken in the stock markets since election day. There have been two days in New York stock exchange history on which aggregate sales passed the 3,000,000 share mark, both of these being in 1901. Thus far the markets since election day have not touched the 3,000,000 share mark, but for the sixteen days since election day the sales average more than 3,000,000 shares daily, a record never before equaled in the history of the local institutions, except in 1901, when the markets of late April and early May of that year, the daily sales averaged approximately 3,000,000 shares for a period of thirteen days.

FINANCIAL NOTES

Over $22,000,000 of ordinary life insurance was written every day in the United States in October, according to figures just issued by the life insurance sales research bureau of Hartford, Conn. The general gains in life insurance sales throughout the country, coupled with the generally increased business prosperity, give every indication that 1924 will be decidedly the biggest year in the history of life insurance. The eighty-one companies which make up the bureau's survey and do 58 per cent of the life insurance business in the United States report very substantial gains for the last month.

Reports showing the trend of the lumber movement of the country for the week ending Nov. 15 received by the National Lumber Manufacturers' association from 358 of the larger commercial sawmills of the country, as compared with sorted reports from 509 mills of the preceding week, indicate that while there was a continued decrease in production, there was a substantial increase in new business and a small decrease in shipments. Production decreased 5,044,638 feet, shipments 2,885,104 feet, while new business increased 5,737,222 feet.

NEW CABINET EGYPT; LEAGUE TO GET PROTES

British Action St Up Other Nation

BULLETIN.
LONDON, Nov. 24.—(U. P. News.)—The Egyptian chamber of deputies has decided to send a delegation to the League of Nations to protest against the British ultimatum which followed the assassination of Sir Lee Stack, to all countries of the world and to the League of Nations, according to a dispatch from Cairo to the Morning Post.

CAIRO, Egypt, Nov. 24.—(By Associated Press.)—A new government, headed by Zirwar Pasha, president of the senate, has taken office in Egypt. Zirwar Pasha, having been elected by the British demands, as he desired expedient—an offer of the payment of the £500,000 (£2,500,000) indemnity, and the promise to pay the assassins of Sir Lee Stack, of the Egyptian army—withdrew the premiership, and his resignation was immediately accepted by the British.

On the assembling of the office this evening the former premier, Zirwar Pasha, received an ovation. He announced that he had tendered his resignation on receipt of Viscount Bessborough's note on Nov. 22, but that he had endeavored to deal with the situation arising from the assassination of Sir Lee Stack, a crime, but Egypt probably be exposed to dangers which could be avoided by the cabinet's resignation.

Asks Nation to Be Calm.
Zirwar, exhorted the nation to serve the utmost calm in these times and promised to support the government. Opposition speakers attacked him, accusing him of weakness and failure to protect the country's honor against Great Britain's onslaught. Various motions from both sides were proposed. The Egyptian parliament's protest against the British ultimatum was adjourned until the morning. A committee of British members landed today at Alexandria. The committee, which was headed by Lord Allenby, did not interfere with business, and all remains quiet.

URGE FRANCE TO A

BY VINCENT SHEARS
(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Columnist)
PARIS, Nov. 24.—Premier Poincaré called a meeting of his cabinet today to discuss the ultimatum which France has presented to Egypt. This action, despite the fact that Great Britain announced that it will not intervene in its quarrel with Egypt.

As the full purport of the ultimatum to Egypt was realized, a formidable outcry of protest was heard from the French press and the sympathies, beyond a question, are strongly on the side of the Egyptians. In addition to this sentiment, however, the French press is to state that the strongest pressure has been brought to bear on France to force the question of the League of Nations. This comes in the form of a report from Germany and Russia, particularly the latter.

Oppose New British Government.
With the Herriot government falling further and further away from the English government since it came into power, it is highly probable that some step will be taken within two days are up to some league of nations to avert a conflict. The situation appears to be serious. Germany, the little states of the Balkans, and every other nation, with reasons to wish disunity, are willing to support any intervention to prevent the annexation of another territory to the British Empire. In particular, it is stated that the British government has taken immediate steps to prevent the annexation of another territory to the British Empire. The situation is serious. The strongest possible inducement is being offered to prevent the annexation of another territory to the British Empire. (Continued on page 10.)
